
V4 is release but what about V3

Posted by da8iwr - 2007/12/29 19:59

We will continue selling and looking after V3, as it is a totally different system to V4. V3 is a component and Module that shows on the front end of the site, Version 4 is a Mambot that is purely in the admin only.

Some clients don't need the feeds to be visible on the front end, others prefer it, so for the moment, we will continue V3 development as well as V4. We even thought about releasing V4 as a new product as it is so different, but thought what the hell and left it in the same product range.

All the best

Good news lan, I am still trying to getting my prices to include VAT. Is there an easy way of doing this? Thanks.

Hi nluk100

Not in V3 no, but yes in V4 the option is there :)
as well as Discount prices on and off, and many other little toys for you guys.

I have spent the last 3 days including new years eve making video tutorials and info packs for the release. Here are 2 of the flash video tutorials, which also show how it works and the admin part of it.

They arnt 100% finished yet, as i still need to spell check and change the navigation buttons etc on them, but they are definitely getting there.

I'm trying to get all the support side done before releasing it, as i don't want people getting a half arsed job (if you know what i mean).

All the best

Do you want me to beta test V4 on my site - we have 450+ products?

Right at the moment I'm just building the demo version, which is a cut down version of the real thing. The demo lasts forever but only uploads the latest 5 products added. It should be finished very soon, i am now just waiting to see if it is uploading correctly and then ill release it to everybody.

It uses the exact same code and encryption system as the real version, as it is the real one with code removed, so this means you can test and make sure it works perfect on your system before buying the real one.

I'll post it on here as soon as it is ready :)

OK, I will wait for V4. I'm already getting email complaints from potential customers that the (ex-VAT) prices shown on google don't match the incl VAT prices on the site, therefore it won't be long before Google get to hear about it and remove all my products :ohmy:
