If you get errors like this on your site when you activate the Mambot on the front end of the site, this is why.

Warning: file_exists() : open_basedir restriction in effect. File(/usr/local/lib/php/extensions/no-debug-non-zts-20060613/../../../../ioncube/ioncube_loader_lin_5.2.so) is not within the allowed path(s): (/home/interi11:/usr/lib/php:/usr/local/lib/php:/tmp) in /home/interi11/public_html/mambots/system/vmrss_v4.php on line 2 or

Site error: the file /home/buyproge/public_html/store/mambots/system/vmrss_v4.php requires the ionCube PHP Loader ioncube_loader_fre_4.4.so to be installed by the site administrator.

This is not a problem

The issue is that I have scrambled the code, so I have included the unscramblers that are supplied by IonCube (the company who sold the software to me that scrambled it).

The problem is that the installer I made could only handle a few of the loaders (unscramblers), so I chose the Windows version as it was the smallest one. But there are loads more.

<http://www.ioncube.com/loaders.php>

Download the zip from the archives for the type of server you have. The error code gives you a good idea of what the problem is, I have made bold the parts that show what it is looking for.

Any help needed, please drop me a post on here.

Regards

Ian

Hi Ian

I just got your newest Froogle version 4.

Unfortunately I get the following error:

Site error: the file /home/mondial2/public_html/mambots/system/vmrss_v4.php requires the ionCube PHP Loader ioncube_loader_fre_5.2.so to be installed by the site administrator.

So I tried to set up the "ioncube_loader_fre_5.2.so" but it doesn't work.

Is it possible for you to make an upgrade of the version 4 with the ioncube_loader_fre_5.2.so?

Thanks

Hi Marcel

You don't just add the one loader, you need to add all the loaders that are in that zip file per server, and it should work perfectly.

I tried and tried to add as many common loaders and it just wouldn't work, as the installer is too big for many servers to upload. If I added the Windows, Linux and the open base versions the Mambot was about 5.8mb in size. But many cheap servers only accept upto about 2 mb, so when you were installing it, the server would time out and reject it.

Shame isnt it, as it would be great if i could make one installer that had them all.

Ill try and make some mini installers that just install the loaders of the common ones, so you can choose to install Windows, Linux, etc. Ill give that a go tonight or tomorrow if i can find the time.

Let me know if you need a hand
Ian

Could your installer somehow download the needed files directly? This should avoid the upload limits.

Re:IonCube Errors

Posted by da8iwr - 2008/01/06 17:34

Hi Dekard

I have no idea how this would work if it can be done. I can make some pretend mambots, that will upload the files directly in to the correct place, which i think would be a great solution.

But with this site being hacked into every few days, and other ongoing jobs such as www.bullettimephotography.com (my photography portfolio) my work load is going through the roof.

I was working last night (this morning) till 6.30am and started again at 11am.

But i will make it a priority to get the ion-cube mambots done asap, as i know this is a real sticking point for many people who don't understand how to upload files.

Ian

Re:IonCube Errors

Posted by da8iwr - 2008/01/06 18:00

I have just made a simple mambot there, and it should in theory work perfect for the Linux loaders, but every time i try to upload it i get this error

Failed to move uploaded file to /media directory.

This is the same error i got when i included the Linux files before, and assumed it was too big. It maybe that the extensions (ioncube_loader_lin_4.1.so) the loaders use arnt recognised. Ive popped a post on Joomla to see what others say.

Regards
Ian

PS

This doesn't stop V4 working in any way, it just makes it easier to install if you have different server types, nothing more. It is still OK to do this manually, I'm just trying to find a none techy way of uploading the files.

Ian using the installer from the ionCube site you linked elsewhere results in the files being stored above public_html in a subdirectory named 'ioncube'. From your post above I'm not sure thats where you are installing the files, or is it?

Nevermind. My host fixed the problem...

Re:ionCube Errors

Posted by da8iwr - 2008/01/20 21:25

Hi Oldsteel

I have sent you a detailed email about this, but many hosting packages wont allow the installer extension names to be added through an installer, i have tried and tried.

But yes that was a simple test sample, not supposed to be for test use to make sure the installer was actually adding the files at all., sorry i should have made that clear.

I hope all is going well with your mambot :)

Hi Guys

Have you followed the first post on this thread

<http://www.virtuemartfrooglefeed.com/download-area/version-4/ioncube-errors.html>

As nothing has ever changed with the mambot, and the only reason the error shows is because the php file has 2 parts to it, one that the server can read without the ioncube loaders and one with it.

If the no ioncube loaders are found it says the error, ioncube loader not found,

If the ioncube loaders are working, it bypasses that bit and allows it to work perfectly.

If not, drop me an email through this website, and i will reply back to you with my MSN details so i can collect from you a user name and password to have a look in your website and see if they are placed in the right place.

yourwebsite.com/mambots/system/ioncube

If that folder doesn't exist, just create it, and pop in the correct ion cube loaders from <http://www.ioncube.com/loaders.php>

Here are the direct link to the Linux loaders which most people need.

http://downloads2.ioncube.com/loader_downloads/ioncube_loaders_lin_x86.zip

Download them, unpack them and then add just the funny .so and .ts.so files into that ioncube directory on your site.

It should work fine then.

Ian

thanks, i really appreciate your help.

in the meantime i have dug a little deeper and discovered that i don't have access to the php.ini file on my server and ionCube is not installed. I have emailed my webserver support team and asked them if they could install it for me.

one quick question though - if i create a php.ini file and put it inside my root directory can i direct the website to load the ionCube loaders? I have created a php.ini file in my root directory and it solved some csv upload problems i was having with another site i run, just wondering if it will work.

cheers,

Hello there

You don't need access to the php.ini file for the loaders, that's only if you want to add it into the php.ini file.

<http://www.ioncube.com/faq.php#rtl>

There is the info there from Ion Cube them selves :)

If you need anything else, please let me know

Re:IonCube Errors

Posted by da8iwr - 2008/03/30 02:43

Are you using a Linux or windows server?

As the mambot comes with a windows loader installed as standard, and the instructions above are for the Linux server, so if your using something else, it will need the other ioncube loader to match that server.

Go to your joomla admin > System > System Info and copy and paste the bit that says something like

Linux host.newworldhosting.co.uk 2.6.9-023stab046.2-enterprise #1 SMP Mon Dec 10 15:22:33 MSK 2007 i686

That should tell us what kind of server it is.

(its not a security issue for you to add it here, for a start off, nobody knows your website link)

Hi there

The ioncube loader shouldnt have any effect at all on any other part of your website, so im not sure i know what is happening there. Can you drop the link to the website thatis causing the problems please, as i think your ioncube isnt working fully on your site to have that first error at the top.

Ian,

I am trying to demo your software, but I am getting the same error.

I have tried every linux loader with no luck. The only one that doesn't give me the error is the Linux x86 loaders, but then I have a different problem. The page will load completely white. No error codes. I would really like to use your software, could you help me out?

Hi James

Can you send an email to your hosting company asking if they accept the ion cube loaders. I know 99% do, but there is the odd 1% that dont. To make it even easier, if you could ask them to add it for you, to your account, that would work very well :)

If not let me know and I'm sure i can help you one way or other.

Thanks Ian...

I spoke with GoDaddy at length today only to find out that they do not support ioncube (though they said it was possible if I could figure out how to do it).

I uploaded the loaders I need, added the line to my php.ini file to reference them, and they seem to be working fine now. I had to put them in my /ioncube rather than /mambots/system/ioncube/ to make them work. I go to ioncube-loader-helper.php and it tells me that everything is installed correctly. I go to ioncube-encoded-file.php and it says that it has successfully decoded a file.

However, when I enable the mambot, I get a "Bad Response from server" when I try to go to my site.

I would like to purchase your software, but I'm at a loss as to what I am doing wrong. Am I missing something obvious?

Thanks for all your help.

Do these loaders have to be installed using root or administrator? Because I do not have access.

Also, the error I am getting is:

Site error: the file /home/promopri/public_html/mambots/system/vmrss_v4.php requires the ionCube PHP Loader ioncube_loader_lin_4.4.so to be installed by the site administrator.

When I get the ionCube support enabled will that be the only issues that needs to be taken care for the error message above?

Thanks.

Hi All

I have had some detailed conversations with Nick from IonCube, and they say there is no problems with using GoDaddy, you just need to do it in a different way than i have explained on here.

What i have done is ask IonCube to write up a detailed instruction guide on how to install ioncube loaders, and then i will post it on here. I will prob even set up a specific GoDaddy part of this forum to allow people to see exactly what to do and not to do.

As soon as i know more, i will let you know.

Kindest regards

Hi, Ian. My administrator was able to install ionCube on my account but not on the whole server. I logged into Google Base Beta, but it said that the upload failed.

"Data feed upload failed. No items are live."

On the details link it mentions that number of items processed was 153 but none were inserted.

Any suggestions???

Hi Wifi Studios

The IonCube sounds like it worked perfectly, otherwise you wouldn't have been able to upload at all to Google base, so i wouldn't worry about that :)

On the error message in Google it will show something like

Data feed upload failed. No items are live.

The "Details" bit will be a link, if you click on it, it will open something like

It will prob start to replicate itself all the way down, as it will be more than likely something like thing wrong is all your products or a simple setting. Don't worry about the "Recommend" warnings, for example the one above it says ISBN is only for Books, and so on. The reason why my example above has failed, is because its an old version of my feed, and i haven't set the date 30 days in the future.

The numbers i have mad bold are the line number of your XML, to let you know exactly where the problem is. If you open your XML doc in notepad2 you can see the exact line it is talking about :)

If you could let me know the first 10 or so line numbers like

ean 49

mpn 49

And a link to your website, so i can take a look at your XML file and work out whats gone wrong.

But i wouldn't worry, as the mambot is def creating the XML file and uploading to Google, otherwise Google wouldn't be able to complain :)

Re:lonCube Errors

Some of the errors i can see why, but when you look through the code from the very start there are special characters in the XML tags.

Looking at for example the first product in your XML lines 10 - 21

FL_4/4_10x7

40
USD
639.99

New

You can see
FL_4/4_10x7

The / and the _ are both counted as special characters. No XML accepts special characters so the XML becomes invalid. I am looking at ways to encode the special characters into the XML as this thread talks about here http://groups.google.com/group/base-help-bulk/browse_thread/thread/43c9b32c3276f9ae?tv=2

(not sure if that will make much sense to you)

Basically the Mambot needs to be made to have a recoding section, that detects there is a special character in the text to be add to the XML, and then encodes that specific character.

That is to be added to the next version of my feed, but is not available in this one yet.

This is why i always ask everywhere on the site to try the demo version first, the solution is to remove all special charactors from the titles and short description. I will try and get an accrute time scale of when the next version will be released for you.

Re:IonCube Errors

Posted by wifistudios - 2008/07/04 17:38

Thanks for getting back to me on this subject. In order for this version to work on my site, I would have to change over 150 product names, so how long do you think it will take for the next version to come out? Thanks in advance.

Re:IonCube Errors

Posted by da8iwr - 2008/07/05 18:43

Just a suggestion, if you download the SQL file from phpmyadmin, and open it in Notepad2
<http://www.flos-freeware.ch/notepad2.html>
then use find and replace, you can add any info you need to the right parts of the SQL file.

Make sure you know what your doing before trying this, and take a back up of the SQL, as you could totally screw up the site if you do it wrong.

We are developing V.4 and V5 right now, we have no estimated time as we are stuck in another project that we want to have released asap.

Ian

Hi we purchase the new full version and are receiving error :

Site error: the file /hsphere/local/home/admindrew/marketplace.kazooit.com/joomla/mambots/system/vmrs_v4.php requires the ionCube PHP Loader ioncube_loader_lin_5.2.so to be installed by the site administrator.

is there an fix for this?

we would really like to have this mod it would save us a lot of hassle

We purchased this because of the fast email you sent back assuring that the mod would work even though the test file didnt work!!!

you said you would refund me if this mod wouldnt work and that you could get it to work

Hi There, yerp, i also received your email, but couldn't reply as my Outlook has died/corrupted. I was going to fix my PC and then reply to you tomorrow.

The error you have there is just to tell you that the IonCube loaders need adding, and is quite normal :)

If you go to this thread

<http://www.virtuemartfrooglefeed.com/froogle-feed-forum/version-4/ioncube-errors.html>

It shows you there, how to solve it, if you have any probs, just drop me an email. I will get it sorted for you as soon as i sort my PC out, which should (hopefully) be tomorrow.

All the best
Ian

PS

Please dont drop my email address on here, i get between 400 and 1000 emails per day, all trying to sell me stiffy pills and offer me the chance to make 1 million dollars per day in my spare time and having my email on here will just make it worse ;)

Re:IonCube Errors

Posted by da8iwr - 2008/07/09 01:45

Its the "Linux" and "i686" bit they are looking for in your system info above.

So in here <http://www.ioncube.com/loaders.php>

You will see "Linux (x86)" and all the different archives, you need to choose the zip file, as it is the easiest to control with winzip, winrar or just windows.

Extract that zip file into a temp folder and then upload all the files you find in to the folder www.yourwebsite.com/mambots/system/ioncube/ and upload to the web

Hopefully, it should start working correctly :)

Re:IonCube Errors

thanks for the direction:)

I uploaded file `ioncube_loaders_lin_x86` and we dont get the ion cube loader message any more but we get a blank page for the home page and 404 for the `all_products.xml` page are there any other things i could check?
you said that the permissions for the mod xml file could be set wrong can you tell me the file name that i would check?

Re:IonCube Errors

Just an update, as i tried to email you, and your email address is dead, so the emails bounced back.

I have downloaded your entire site, all 200+mb of it, and uploaded it onto my server, to test if it is your hosting or my feed at fault.

Apart from the images, i have uploaded all other files including the database
<http://host.newworldhosting.co.uk/~kazooit/>

And then run the feed on my server with no changes at all the database, or settings. all i did was publish the Froogle feed mambot, and refresh the home page.

These XML files were generated http://host.newworldhosting.co.uk/~kazooit/mambots/system/vmrss_v4/

Both All Products and Latest Products have been produced fine.

So the fault is somewhere with your hosting not the feed. You need to talk to your hosting company about this and see if they can help you as something is preventing the feed working or being generated.

My hosting is just standard Linux VPS environments, nothing special at all. I have it set as standard as possible, so when i develop anything, i know it should work anywhere else.

As i left your username and password in the Mambot for Google Base, you should see the feed uploaded to your Google account, which will probably fail, as their are so many products, i would imagine without looking, a few have special characters or errors that Google will fail.

All the best
Ian

ian,

thanks for responding to the email i do understand the frustration you are feeling about this and im sorry we have with no problem paying you for this bot but it was sold to me as a working google feed loader. we have talked to the hosting company and was told that ion cube support is supported and active.if you can tell me what i need from them i will see if i can get it. ixbehosting is big and to my knowlede the only option for us with unlimited hosting but that they won't work on third party softwear. the cubecart 4 program that we run uses ion cube. we need our items on google base is there a manual way of loading them with your program. we do have xml output from sef sitemap but it only will put out the news items and content even thought we have the plugin for virtual mart. the guy at ixwebhosting said i should try putting it in the root sounded like .ixbehosting.com/server/?/marketplace.kazooit.com/joomla/google/mabot/ i dont really kwow what he meant by that. or how to do it. let me know what you come up with. send me your advertising and the site adresses that you what indexed, do you know a way to raise the amount of the exported information so we can upload by csv to base. we are going to be building the advertising joomal to include as many resourses to free advertising and marketing for people. google.googlebase will be covered entirely.

we can't close the Paypal dispute and then reopen it agian.

please let us know if you come up with any ideas or leads.

Hi there

I have just spent the last 1.5hrs on your site trying to find anything wrong and couldn't find anything at all wrong with Joomla or the Froogle feed due to conflicts of code or incorrect coding.

I am downloading the entire website right now as I type and I will set it up on my hosting to see if it works. If it works ok, it is your hosting, if it is still not working, I will try and find what the fault is as it must be fixed so other clients don't have the same problems with it.

I don't think it is a confliction of any other Mambots on your site, as I just turned them all off, and it was still making the site go white, so if no Mambots were turned on, then in theory there should be no conflict.

When I have the site set up, I will send you a link to it as well, so you can see how it looks and works on here. I live in the UK, but about 85%+ and up of my work is in the states, so I have hosting over there, so it shouldn't be bad for you.

Can I just add though, I'm not happy about the way you are conducting things with PayPal. I really am trying my hardest to make this work for you, and putting in much more effort than £25 of labour would cost you. You say you have other trouble with other XML creators, like site maps etc, so maybe it's not my feed that is the problem, but the site or hosting.

I don't expect it to be the site to be honest, I have a strong feeling it is the hosting, as a Joomla site is exactly the same as any other Joomla website out there, as they use the same lines of code. So the only thing unique about your site and all the others out there is the hosting.

As you can see from my feedbacks, I have never ever messed anybody about, and as I said, if I can't get it to work, then I would refund your money. So there was no need to open a dispute with PayPal.

I would really appreciate it if you could close the dispute to stop any further actions with them. If I find it is the fault of hosting, I will offer you either my hosting at the same price your paying now and transfer your site over for you, or ask you to get the hosting fixed by your hosting company.

But lets see how your site works on my server first before making any decisions on things.

Kindest regards
Ian

hi ,

well we finally figured out the problem with this the ion cube folder was in the wrong place and the system limits memory was preventing it from working. we got it to start loading but the downloaded test site was allso sending files to google base. please delete my site from your servers it is all ready getting indexed by the search engines . this is a risk. we trusted you. the paypal claim has been removed. but i could still use a little help with fixing the errors . we currently have wasted 50 dollors usd. help us out.

Eventough I didn't get a reply to my email, when i experienced this same Ioncube issues...i could sort it out in 30min by reading this forum topic.

I just installed the Linux version Ioncube to the folder /mambots/system/ioncube/ and then published the mambot again and refreshed my website a couple times...

It was stressful since it gave me a 404 timeout error, but luckily it was due to the XML feed generation, and i see google base is now processsing my first feed and that my site loads again fine.

Thanks, lets pray all goes smooth further.

Hi There

sorry for the delay, this damn forum isn't sending me emails about when i get posts, i have done everything, even paid somebody to try and fix it, and it still doesn't want to work!!!

Looks like ill be prob setting up a new form soon, as this is driving me mad.

I'm pleased to see you managed to get the IonCube working. Please let me know if you need anything else :)

Kindest regards

Ian

Hi Morne

Great to see to see you got it all working, sorry for not getting back to you, as i said above there this forum isnt giving me replies or post information.

But i was also away for the past week on holiday and I only got back yesterday as monday was a bank holiday in the UK. But if you need anythgn else, please let me know :)

All the best
Ian
