Hi, sorry for the delay, once again never saw this post.

I am planning on making this work with as many different systems as possible. I have tried and tried to get other comparison sites to help me, i have even say on the phone and tried to talk to different comparison sites with no luck.

a few of the companies thought i was mad, and the others had no idea what i was talking about, even the tech department had no idea.

If you know of any info on the net, i would be very pleased to see it :)

All the best
Ian
