
Possible to prevent it using SEF url's

Posted by RChesley - 2008/05/05 15:23

Hi,

I've got this uploading only on the virtuemart latest products feed but not the other one (not sure why) but the problem is, it's using the SEF url, and I don't want it to do this. My videos are excluded from SEF, but for some reason the feed is picking them up using a SEF url which directs to the wrong page.

Any ideas?

Ruth

Re:Possible to prevent it using SEF url's

Posted by da8ivr - 2008/05/05 21:47

Hi Ruth

The latest products, is just a cut down version of the all_products feed. all it does is put them in order of the time they were added to the site, and then pick the top XX number of the top.

So what must be happening is the top 25 items are OK, and one of the products further down the list is having issues. Probably something like a special character in the product or category title, maybe a special character in the description, but that shouldn't be an issue any more really. Or the ID number starts duplicating for some reason.

Can i ask, do you have you multiple shopper groups or multiple Tax Codes set up?

The SEF URL is built into the Mambot, as we never thought that anybody would want it removed. So it is part of a lot of the coding I'm afraid.

I think for the next update, ill try and see if i can add in an option

- Use SEF
- Use Standard Joomla/VM URLs

All the best

Ian

Re:Possible to prevent it using SEF url's

Posted by RChesley - 2008/05/05 21:52

Hi Ian,

Not sure about your theory, I can give you a look at the site in detail if this would help? Please drop me an email.

Ruth

Re:Possible to prevent it using SEF url's

Posted by da8ivr - 2008/05/05 21:56

Ill drop you an email, with my MSN details, so we can talk on there.

I am off to bed now though, as i have been mountain climbing today, and i feel like my legs are going to fall off.

Ill speak tomorrow :D
